DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Claims 1 and 4, "the golf ball maintaining the first state while immersed in water up to the time period that is greater than two days but less than one hundred eighty day" is not supported by the originally filed specification. Page 12, lines 3-4, discloses the performance characteristics preferably do not change with continuous immersion for up to two days. Applicant is precluded from now claiming a range from 2 to 180. Claims 11, the step of sensing the golf ball has the second characteristic is not supported by the originally filed specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Winskowicz (6,358,160). Winskowicz discloses a golf ball that changes performance characteristics once immersed in water for several days (col. 2). The characteristics include weight, size, spherical symmetry, overall distance, and initial velocity (col. 10, claim 1). Winskowicz further discloses that it is well known that golf ball recovered after being exposed to water have a change in carry and coefficient of restitution (hardness) (col. 1). The golf balls are tested using golf clubs. See figure 1, where the golf ball is immersed into the water.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 11-29-04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues the prior art identifies the problem that exists with respect to recovered ball in a completely different manner. As support applicant argues the performance changes in the ball of the prior art, Winskowicz, would not be detectable by a golfer. The Examiner disagrees. The prior art clearly discloses applicant's claimed invention. The prior art and the present invention disclose golf balls having a first characteristic and a different characteristic once immersed in water for several days. Applicant now claims the difference can be detected by a golfer and argues a golfer cannot detect the ball of Winskowicz without a visual indicator. As support applicant states a golfer cannot detect a 6 yard difference in carry. However, applicant is providing an opinion and not factual data. Winskowicz clearly discloses the golf ball in a first state having predetermined characteristics prior to being immersed in water. The characteristics include weight, size, spherical symmetry, overall distance, and initial velocity. Once the golf ball is immersed in the water for several days the characteristics are different. While Winskowicz provides a visual indicator, the characteristics cited will clearly be detectable by a golfer.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
